Re: Georgia Open Records Act Request to Dominion Voting Systems, Inc.

Dear Ms. Marks:

This constitutes the response of Dominion Voting Systems, Inc. (“Dominion”) to your March 29, 2023 Georgia Open Records Act (the “Act”) request, which was emailed to our office on March 30, 2023.

As with your earlier request to Dominion under the Act, we are providing this response as a courtesy. The Act does not require a response from Dominion under these circumstances because it is not a “public agency,” and because the records requested are not “public records” as those terms are defined in O.C.G.A. § 50-18-70(b). See also Corp. of Mercer Univ. v. Barrett & Farahany, LLP, 271 Ga. App. 501, 503 (2005) (The Act “should not be construed broadly and in derogation of its express terms so as to bring private entities into the purview of the statute.”).

The documents you have requested from Dominion are not public records, but even if they were, they would be exempt from disclosure under the Act for several reasons. First, you are seeking communications between Dominion and representatives of Coffee County pertaining to an election management system. See Smith v. DeKalb Cnty., 288 Ga. App. 574, 577 (2007) (election management system exempt under the Act because disclosure would present a security risk). See also O.C.G.A. § 50-18-72(a)(25)(A). Communications between Dominion and representatives of Coffee County during the period you have indicated in your request may contain security sensitive discussions of the election management system used by Coffee County and are therefore exempt. Discussions between Coffee County and Dominion referencing Misty Hampton/Martin may similarly contain security sensitive discussions of the election management system used by Coffee County and are likewise exempt.

Additionally, Dominion is not in a position to determine if the records you are seeking relate to “any pending investigation or prosecution of criminal or unlawful activity” by the Georgia Secretary of State’s Office. See O.C.G.A. § 50-18-72(a)(4). It is our understanding that the Georgia Secretary of State’s Office has an open investigation into the Coffee County election board's management of the 2020 election, and your records requests appear to relate to that investigation. Because the Georgia Secretary of State's Office is the entity with legal standing to assert the exemptions for security and pending investigations, Dominion is unwilling to make any disclosures without the consent of the Georgia Secretary of State. See, generally, Campaign for Accountability v. Consumer Credit Rsch. Found., 303 Ga. 828, 836 (2018) ("Parties with an interest in nondisclosure of public records pertaining to them may pursue a lawsuit to seek compliance with the ORA, which is expressly authorized by O.C.G.A. § 50-18-73(a).").

Thus, for all of the above reasons, Dominion will not produce any communications covered by your request to the extent they exist.

Very truly yours,
